"Proud Langston Day" went over with great success as the official clean-up day gathered momentum. The general campus attitude is that more PLD are needed and will be welcomed.

Public Relations chief, J. H. Lovett enjoyed chats with association prexy, Mr. C. Cooper, and other alumni as he heard pledges of support for President Hale and his program for the New Langston University.

L. G. Moore, Dean of Instruction, addressed the student body of "Effective Study Habits". The program initiated the Orientation series but was met with overwhelming enthusiasm by the upperclassmen

The Hail - Langston Newsletter to spotlight

Dear Alumnus:

We are thrilled and excited over our return to our Alma Mater and the opportunity for service to a great state and to a great school.

The job of carrying on the work so nobly begun by those who preceded us is an operation which will call for the cooperation of all hands. Later I will go into detail with you on some of our plans for Langston's future. For now, I beg of you to do two things immediately.

- (1) See that your community has a functioning, dynamic alumni chapter, and
- (2) Take as one project the registering to vote of all citizens of the community.

Together, and in no other way, can we insure the future of our school as a valuable part of the system of Higher Education in Oklahoma.

W.H.H.

A WINDY DAY

The Wind blowing through the trees Everyone swaying with the breeze, all aglow Joy and love a low Surely know one is blue for love is so true Cheerfully going about their ways sighing the fresh air of those Lovely . . .
WINDY DAYS
